Library Leadership and Gender
Expectations and Lived Experiences

Session hashtag: #libleadgender

Who We Are

Jessica Olin
Director of the Robert H. Parker Library
Wesley College
@olinj

Who We Are

April M. Hathcock
Scholarly Communication Librarian
NYU
@AprilHathcock

Who We Are

Erin Leach

Head of Serials Cataloging

University of Georgia Libraries

@erinaleach

Who We Are
Maura Smale

Chief Librarian
NYC College of Tech, CUNY

@mauraweb

Who We Are

Jennifer Brown

Emerging Technologies Coordinator

Columbia University

@jeninthelib

Who We Are

Michelle Millet

Director of the Grasselli Library

John Carroll University

@winelibrarian

Think, Pair, & Share

- Do you consider yourself a leader? Why or why not?
- Have you found yourself coming up against gender stereotypes at work? In what ways?
- Are there actions you've taken to resist or confront challenges you've faced with gender norms at work? Have they been successful?
- How do the intersections of other facets of your identity (race, ethnicity, class, sexuality, religion, disability, etc.) affect your gender expectations and realities in leadership?

PLEASE ONLY SHARE IF YOU ARE COMFORTABLE

Your Questions & Our Answers

Moving Forward!

Key Takeaway: Keep working on this!

- What can you do to help yourself? Others?
- What can we (the panel) do to support you?
- How can we empower ourselves and others?

Questions later?

Jessica Olin: jessica.olin@wesley.edu

April Hathcock: april.hathcock@nyu.edu

Erin Leach: eleach@uga.edu

Maura Smale: msmale@citytech.cuny.edu

Jennifer Brown: jcb2257@columbia.edu

Michelle Millet: mmillet@jcu.edu